

Name _____

Units of Volume - The Two Systems

We use Units of Volume to measure the amount of space that a substance or object occupies. They are very useful in our daily life. Before we learn more about them, let's introduce the two different systems that we most often use. Color the units that belong to the Metric System in RED, then color the units that belong to the US Standard System in BLUE.

Fluid
Ounces

Liter

Cubic Meter
(m^3)

PREVIEW

Please login or register to download the printable version of this worksheet.

www.allkidsnetwork.com

Milliliter

Cups

Gallon

Cubic Inch
(in^3)

Name _____

Units of Volume - The Two Systems

We use Units of Volume to measure the amount of space that a substance or object occupies. They are very useful in our daily life. Before we learn more about them, let's introduce the two different systems that we most often use. Color the units that belong to the Metric System in RED, then color the units that belong to the US Standard System in BLUE.

