all! My family had decided to take a walk down along the beach. At first we were just _____ along the water, _____, or small rocks. It was getting dark and we were about to head home. Then, I looked up the beach and saw the most magnificent sight! There were _____ sea turtles dragging themselves up onto the sand! I counted them and there were six in all! We stood there for a long time and watched them slowly climb up onto the shore, dig a nest with their back flippers, and lay their eggs _____ the sand. It wasn't until they were safely back in the water and it was well past dark and we were headed home, that I realized I was _____ from excitement! It was the best trip ever!
